Overview

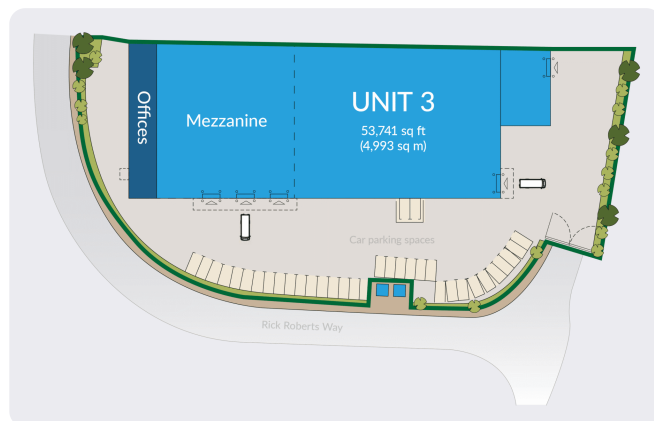

G-Park London Stratford is a premier logistics and industrial development located in East London's thriving commercial hub. Positioned at the heart of Stratford's regeneration zone, this logistics park offers unparalleled connectivity – just 13 minutes' walk from London Underground and National Rail links, and under 5 miles from the City of London. With over 2.5 million households within a 30-minute drive, it's an ideal solution for last mile logistics and urban distribution.

Features

This built-to-suit warehouse development provides flexible logistics warehouse space and benefits from proximity to Westfield Stratford City and Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park, and is home to major brands like Mercedes-Benz and Travis Perkins. The local labour pool exceeds 600,000, with 85% economically active and over 83% holding NVQ2 qualifications or higher.

Sustainability

G-Park London Stratford is designed with sustainability at its core, supporting real estate development that meets modern ESG standards. The site offers potential for battery storage integration and energy-efficient logistics solutions, aligning with GLP's commitment to responsible industrial and logistics real estate.
